- You control who these calendars are shared with. You can share them with specific people, or make them public with other people in the same Google domain:

- Depending on the level of permission you are given, you may be able to create/delete events on these, or only view them.

• Resource Calendars:

- These calendars are created by IT and are used for resources rather than personal or group schedules. Resource calendars can be for reserving rooms, or vehicles, or equipment.
- They will show up on your left sidebar under Other calendars.
